About UT System

For more than 140 years, The University of Texas System has improved the lives of Texans — and people all over the world — through education, health care, and research. The System consists of nine academic institutions, five health institutions, and The University of Texas System Administration. The institutions of the UT System employ more than 160,000 faculty, health care professionals, researchers, support staff, and student workers.

The UT System Administration is primarily based in Austin, Texas. It supports the missions of the System's 14 institutions by providing financial, legal, planning, purchasing, government relations, communications, development, and other central services. Serving a growing state, the UT System Administration strives to provide a welcoming, supportive work environment that embraces different perspectives - not only because it enables the organization to be stronger, creative, and thoughtful, but because it is the right thing to do. To that end, the UT System Administration embraces state laws on military and former foster children employment preferences.

About the Office of General Counsel

The Office of General Counsel provides comprehensive legal services and professional expertise to and for UT System Administration and the 14 UT institutions, and coordinates and manages litigation services provided by the Attorney General's Office and outside counsel. OGC also serves as administrator of the UT System medical liability self-insurance plan.

OGC Practice Areas

Commercial Law, Contracts, Creditors' Rights/Collections, Debtor and Creditor, Education/ School Law, Energy/Oil & Gas, Environmental Law, ERISA/Employee Benefits, Government, Government Contracts, Health/Medical, Immigration, Intellectual Property, Labor and Employment, Legislation/Government Relations, Litigation, Medical Malpractice, Natural Resources, Occupational Safety and Health, Patent Law, Probate, Public Interest, Public Policy, Real Estate, Regulatory, Taxation, Transactional, Trusts and Estates, Wills and Probate

About the Clerkship

The OGC clerkship program will expose law clerks to multiple practice areas, including, but not limited to business, administrative, real estate, employment and healthcare law. Clerks may be expected to research various issues; respond to open records requests; draft memos, briefs, litigation documents, policy language, opinion letters and pleadings; assist with litigation strategy and preparation; and participate in client conferences as necessary. Along with this career-related experience, UT System will arrange a brown bag lunch with the general counsel, provide chances for participation in meetings with high level professionals and officials as available and offer professional development opportunities and mentoring.

The OGC law clerks join the University of Texas System Internship (UTSI) cohort for the summer providing additional opportunities for peer networking, professional development, mentoring and opportunities for self-reflection.
